Kennedy Says U.S. Staying 'On Estes' Tail'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says his administration cracked open the Billie Sol Estes case and is "staying right on Mr. Estes' tail." But Republican Sen. Karl Mundt charged today the administration held back on a crackdown on the indicted financier.

Mundt called it "complete capitulation to a guy out on the make."

At his news conference Thursday Kennedy disclosed that 75

FBI agents have been assigned to tracking down evidence on the Texas whose business empire—cracked by scandal and debts—collapsed.

Twice Kennedy emphasized that Estes' financial manipulations were brought to public attention when the federal government indicted him April 5.

"This matter came to public attention because this administration indicted Mr. Estes before a state agency in Texas or any place else moved," said the President.

But Mundt, senior Republican member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee exploring alleged influence dealings by Estes under federal farm programs, told reporters the subcommittee's investigators reported evidence that the Agriculture Department under Secretary Orville L. Freeman knew since July of Estes' complex, lucrative and allegedly illegal dealings in cotton acreage allotments. He said the department canceled the allotments in December, reinstated them in January, and finally imposed penalties on Estes last week which are far milder than its own rules call for.

Says Order Rescinded

Mundt said the order cancelling Estes' cotton allotments was rescinded at a meeting at the Agriculture Department attended by Estes, who was accompanied by a senator and a congressman.

John Bagwell, Agriculture Department counsel, told a newsman that Estes, accompanied by his attorney, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., came to the department on Jan. 6 to discuss the allotments.

The meeting was held, Bagwell said, in the office of Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy.

He said Estes argued the allotments were valid and that the department offered to give him time to prove it.

"Naturally we held up the cancellation procedures to give him a chance to provide the proof," said Bagwell. "When he failed to do this, we canceled the allotments."

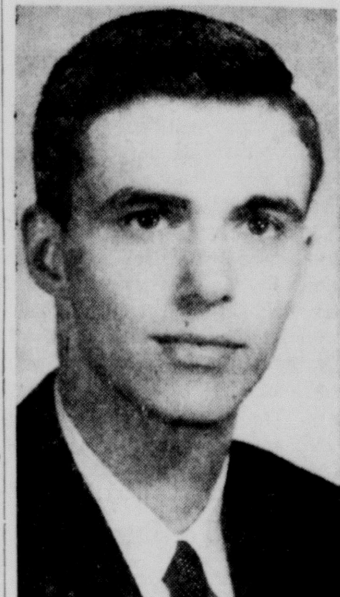

Yarborough, who has acknowledged receiving $1,700 from Estes to help finance the senator's weekly radio broadcast to Texas, volunteered Thursday to testify before Sen. John L. McClellan's subcommittee. Yarborough also has acknowledged he recommended Estes' appointment last year to the National Cotton Advisory Council.

Didn't Know Details
Yarborough said he had no knowledge of the background details of the acreage matters in dispute at the meeting. He said he attended it at the request of Estes' lawyer, after having refused a request by Estes that he attend. He said he refused because he misunderstood the issue, but agreed to go after the lawyer had explained it more fully.

Yarborough said he told the department "each case (allotment) should be investigated and decided on its merits. I did not rec-

Orbit Attempt Is Postponed Until Tuesday

Crews To Improve Parachute System On Spacecraft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The world orbit flight of Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter has been delayed three days until next Tuesday to improve reliability of the parachute system on his spacecraft, Aurora 7.

The surprise announcement of the delay came late Thursday night after a mission review meeting attended by Carpenter, Operations Director Walter Williams and other top Project Mercury officials.

Discussion centered on a question raised nearly three months ago: Why did the small stabilizing parachute on Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.'s capsule unfurl at 27,000 feet instead of the intended 21,000 feet?

Mercury officials apparently were convinced at that time that it was a random failure, not likely to happen again, and no parachute changes were made in Carpenter's capsule.

Plans had been progressing smoothly for a flight scheduled Saturday.

Reviewed Glenn Flight

But at Thursday night's hastily-called meeting, Williams reviewed completely the Glenn three-orbit flight and, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said, "began to ask questions about the parachute deployment."

Williams wanted to know if there was a possibility the small parachute could pop out even sooner, perhaps during orbit. If so, it would burn up on re-entry and lose its value as a stabilizing force for the capsule.

Engineers were not able to explain the malfunction to Williams' satisfaction, the spokesman said, and at 10:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, after a 2½-hour session, Williams decided to postpone the flight to provide a backup parachute deployment switch.

The correction involves installing a second aneroid barometer switch which is sensitive to altitude changes. When atmospheric pressure reached a certain point—in this case 21,000 feet—the switch expands and releases the stabilizing chute.

The old and new switches will be hooked in series so that both must function before the parachute unfolds. A similar switch

Post Office Move Set For Weekend

Postmaster Ray Reasbeck announces that the new Post Office at the corner of Penn Avenue and Columbia Streets will be officially open for business at 8 a.m. Monday.

The new facility was dedicated last Sunday and postal crews have been busy all week moving records and supplies.

This task will be completed this weekend, so that all mail operations will be in full swing in the new office on Monday.

Reasbeck reminded that patron parking is available in the paved lot off of Penn Avenue on the north side of the new building which is adjacent to the lobby entrances.

He requested that all patrons who receive their mail in lobby lock boxes check into the new office either Monday or Tuesday and receive their new box assignments. Facilities are available in the Box lobby for firm mailers to pick up and deposit their large mailings.

The service lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except for Wednesday and Saturday when it will close at noon.

JFK Reaffirms Europe Stand

Replies Bluntly to DeGaulle Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says that so long as the United States bears the heaviest burden of Western defense it "will continue to participate in the great decisions affecting war and peace" in Europe.

The President tackled the problem of allied disagreements in an address Thursday night to the Conference on Trade Policy, a bipartisan group of business, labor, farm and consumer organizations interested in foreign trade.

It was folly to think that the United States may some day abandon its commitment to European security, Kennedy said.

"The United States cannot withdraw from Europe, unless and until Europe should wish us gone."

Marines Pour Into Thailand

Dayton Area Scoured for 3 Fugitives

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The search for three illusive fugitives from the Cook County jail in Chicago shifted here late Thursday after the station wagon the three men used was discovered near the downtown area.

That development, coupled with the report of a man fitting the description of one of the trio who tried to sell a revolver, has touched off an extensive hunt.

The escapees, all considered dangerous, are William G. Triplett, 37, of Detroit, charged with helping in the slaying of a union official; Michael Huntington, 19, of Chicago, charged with violating the Mann Act; and Paul Muhlig.

Advance Elements 30 Miles From Laos Border

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—American Marines dug in today 30 miles from the Laotian border in a determined show of force to discourage any Communist aggression against Thailand from embattled Laos.

The U.S. buildup of armed might in this pro-Western oriental land moved swiftly and smoothly toward a planned peak of 5,000 men.

The landing in Bangkok of 1,800 combat-ready U.S. Marines was completed Thursday night within 18 hours after the first Leatherneck touched shore. A continuous airlift ferried them to northeast Thailand.

Another 500 Marines and Army infantrymen began leaving Hawaii at daybreak, bound for this Southeast Asian kingdom in jet transports. The infantrymen included 200 members of the 27th Infantry Regiment, joining a 1,000-man Army battle group and 800 Engineers who remained in Thailand after maneuvers two weeks ago.

The Marines went into camp near Udorn, 30 miles from the Mekong River border and 40 miles south of the pro-Western Laotian government's administrative capital of Vientiane. American-operated planes shuttle frequently from Udorn to Laos and its airstrip is a base for aerial reconnaissance of the river frontier. New highways are being built in the flat, arid region to several border towns.

The 1,000 U.S. infantrymen of the 27th Regiment already in Thailand were moving out of Korat, northeast of Bangkok, to Form

Hard Fighting Erupts In New Guinea

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Heavy fighting between Dutch paratroopers was reported near Fakkak today.

District Commissioner J. Dubois also reported a drop of Indonesian paratroopers Tuesday about seven miles east of Kaimana. Fakkak is on the west coast of New Guinea. Kaimana is 100 miles to the southeast.

Another Indonesian paratroop landing about 20 miles east of Kaimana Thursday night was reported to Dutch military authorities in Hollandia but could not be confirmed immediately.

It was not immediately clear just which group of paratroopers the Dutch were battling.

At least 40 Indonesians were reported dropped six miles east of Fakkak on Tuesday. Immediately after that drop, Dutch marines carried out a fast amphibious operation and made fighting contact with the Indonesians, who withdrew into the jungle.

Another 50 Indonesian guerrillas parachuted into the jungle near Fakkak on April 27, but the Dutch reported earlier their forces had bottled up these troops in an area 17 miles north of Fakkak.

The news was brought to the sleepy village of Kaimana—population about 1,000—by a Papuan Protestant minister, the Rev. M. Pesiwarissa. He carried a letter from a Papuan teacher in the jungle who told of seeing men "fall down from the sky" about May 11 or 12.

Hoffa Faces Assault Count

Accused of Striking Union Lieutenant

LATE BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa pleaded innocent and asked a jury trial today on a charge he assaulted a union aide, Samuel Baron. The trial was set for June 19.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa goes to court today to face an assault charge pressed by a union lieutenant who says Hoffa beat him up.

Samuel Baron said Hoffa hit him, knocked him down and pushed him over a chair.

Baron, 59, field director for the Teamsters' national warehouse division, took his complaint to the U.S. attorney Thursday. Baron, a greying, 152-pound veteran union official, displayed a blackened left eye, a cut over his right eye and bruises on his face and legs.

Two deputy U.S. marshals stood guard at Baron's home in suburban Silver Spring, Md., through the night. The Justice Department said Baron asked that the guards

2 at Courthouse Fired After Day On Job

LISBON — Two Democratic Courthouse employees, who were dismissed 15 months ago and returned to their jobs Wednesday morning following an Ohio Supreme Court ruling declaring they were entitled to the positions, are among the unemployed ranks again today.

Discharged Thursday by County Commissioners Galen Greenisen and Walter A. Hunston, Republicans, were Miss Patricia Barborak of West Point, photostat operator, and Mrs. Jane Case of Columbiana, telephone operator.

The commissioners said they were fired because they had taken part in political activities incompatible with their civil service status.

The women were replaced this morning by Mrs. Esther Turk of Signal and Mrs. Alma Huffman of East Palestine, whom the commissioners originally selected as their successors after the Republicans gained control of the Board of Commissioners in January, 1961.

The other Democratic woman involved, Mrs. Ruth Wining of Columbiana, was not discharged. Although she did not appear for work this morning, having undergone dental surgery Thursday, she is expected to return to her job soon. Mrs. Wining replaces another Republican appointee, Mrs. Esther DeTemple of Lisbon.

The commissioners, who served notice Wednesday the Democratic women would be fired if they returned to their jobs, cited sections of the Ohio Revised Code which stipulates that "no officer of employ in the classified service shall be an officer in any political organization or take part in politics other than to vote as he pleases and express freely his political opinions."

The two commissioners said they have signed statements attesting to the Democratic women's participation in political campaigns.

Copies of the women's dismissal notices were sent to the Ohio Department of Personnel at Columbus. The discharged employees now have 10 days in which to appeal their discharge, after which the Department of Personnel may set up a hearing on the issue within a 30-day period.

Following the ruling by the state department, the matter may be taken to Common Pleas Court, and subsequently to the Court of Appeals and Ohio Supreme Court, retracing its original route.

Democrats of County Will Meet Saturday

Mt. Union Plans $9 Million College Campus Expansion

(Picture On Page 8)

ALLIANCE — Mount Union College today announced a $9,000,000 long-range program of campus plant and academic program developments to be achieved by 1970.

"If we are to accept our responsibility to educate a greater number of students in the future, we must think in terms of expansion in buildings, faculty salaries, and endowment," President Carl C. Bracy said.

Mount Union currently has a full-time enrollment of 920 students but anticipates a maximum enrollment of 1,200 by 1970.

The program has been presented to the board of trustees as a whole and has been referred to the expansion committee for further consideration at the board's June 2 meeting.

Two buildings will be ready for use this fall and two others scheduled for construction soon as part of the $1,500,000 "Program for the Sixties," which is included in the overall $9,000,000 program.

The Campus Center, totaling $925,000 in building and furnishings will be ready this fall to join King Residence Hall for Men, built in 1960 at a cost of $450,000. Another building, a new Women's Residence Hall, will also open this fall as a "bonus", not actually in the program but made available as a result of quick government action on a $450,000 loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Remaining to be built in the "Program of the Sixties" are the $500,000 Music Wing to the present Rodman Playhouse and Randall Art Studios unit and the $350,000 Humanities Classroom Building.

Also Contemplated

New buildings added for the projected $9,000,000 program are: a $1,000,000 Chapel, capable of seating all students; a $1,250,000 Physical Education Fieldhouse; a $450,000 Men's Residence Hall; and a $300,000 Administration Building.

Cites Present Burden on Taxpayers

JFK Makes New Appeal for Passage of Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has made a new appeal for his farm program in Congress by raising the specter of future Billie Sol Estes cases and further increases in costly farm surpluses.

He told a news conference Thursday that old farm programs had created conditions which bred Estes-type affairs and piled heavy financial burdens on the Treasury and taxpayers.

Estes, West Texas financier under fraud indictment, carried on surplus grain storage and cotton production operations under federal farm programs — operations which netted him returns in the millions. These activities along with charges that he made gifts to Agriculture Department officials for favors are being investigated by the FBI and two congressional groups.

Kennedy said farm surpluses which had reached a peak of $9 billion when he took office last year could easily climb to $10 billion to $14 billion in a few years if the government were required to revert to old farm programs. He said surpluses increased from

The Kennedy farm program — described by the President as supply management — would attempt to make production balance needs through use of tighter controls on producers.

He said it now costs the government $1 billion a year to store, transport and finance the crop surpluses. He also said that if the old program were continued, cost to the government over the next four years would be $4 billion more than under his plan.

This contention was challenged by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who said he had no doubt Kennedy's aides could make it cost that much more. But, Aiken said, there was no reason the burden on the taxpayers couldn't be eased by substitute programs Congress will consider.

Pair Who Killed Editor To Get Review by Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The records of 21 lifers whose cases will require some recommendation this year to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle are under study by the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission.

The cases come under the state's automatic review law.

Among the cases up for review is that of Floyd Streitenberger, former chief of Canton detectives, and Patrick McDermott. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment following the July 1926 slaying of Don Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper editor.

McDermott, named as the triggerman in the slaying, is 63. He has escaped twice, the last time in 1954. Streitenberger, now at London Correctional Institution, is 70. At present he is assigned to gardening and has no black marks against his prison record.

The state's automatic review law provides for the review of a life's case after 20 years and five succeeding five years. Cases of the Canton slayers are expected to reach DiSalle in July.

Saddest Part of the Story

At the close of last week it was clear that the new hot spot on the trouble map was Southeast Asia, where military forces backed by the communists have massed a drive against military forces backed by anti-communists.

Having driven out the French colonials in Indochina, the communists were stiffening their attack on the new regimes patched together with the foreign aid of the United States. The ability of the Laotians to fight had vanished. The ability of the South Vietnamese was in question. The United States, already deeply involved in a buildup of South Viet Nam, was involving itself more deeply by committing the 7th Fleet to the area. Another Korea was in the making.

The story on the surface will be about military action—troop movements, engagements, skirmishes, supplies, aerial actions and the ebb and flow of battle. Again there will be the misery of refugees to report, along with the bland double talk of political spokesmen on the scene and in the United States.

But the saddest part of the story will be neglected because it's history. No one has time for history amid gunfire. It's the history of Asiatics who never learned to put value on self-determination because nothing in their experience taught them what self-determination is.

When they are urged to fight against the evil of communism in order to enjoy the benefits of capitalism, they have no concept of either the evil or the benefits. They have known nothing but poverty and oppression in the past. They have lived in ignorance of the outside world and its ideological issues. Communism to them is not an evil in itself. It is more likely to appear to them as the way out of their despair, a chance to make a quick cleanup on promises to relieve their misery. No one ever promised them anything better.

They are obsessed with ideas of nationalism, a great stirring of emotional desire that Gen. MacArthur described as the dominant force in Asia after he had been relieved of his command in Korea. They have no reason to be grateful to the Western powers that exploited them in the past. They have no immediate reason to mistrust the communist promises of a better future. No one ever promised them a better future.

According to the Rules

U.S. marines were put ashore in Thailand under the rules and regulations of the United Nations and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. This is because Thailand is a member of SEATO and pledged to cooperate in all measures to suppress Communist aggression.

The question is about aggression—whether military action in Laos is aggression in fact and whether it is Communist. To qualify for being Communist it must be controlled by the Soviet Union or the People's Republic of China. The United States and its Southeast Asia allies have no agreement to act against homegrown insurrection, which might well be the nature of the fighting in Laos, whose politics are so chaotic that even people on the scene are unable to understand them.

Everything the United States does in a trouble spot must be according to the rules.

This is a source of galling annoyance to impatient Americans, who simply cannot understand why the United States shouldn't do whatever would be most decisive and make up a rule later. These people believe, in effect, that the United States should be like the Soviet Union; that it must beat the Communists at their own game.

They miss the point. The United States is trying to bring into existence an international society in which all men would live by the rules and acts of aggression would be barred forever. If it were to break the rules it is trying to establish, it would be no better than Britain, France and Israel were when they went berserk and attacked Egypt.

The penalty of believing in civilization is to stay that way when the other side is denying that civilization has anything to offer.

DeGaulle's Burden of Candor

Another Cabinet upheaval in France deepens doubts that have been spreading about the prospects for the European Economic Community. It has its interior problems.

France itself is not of one mind about its ramrod president's firm insistence on restoration of French "grandeur." President de Gaulle wants the benefits of economic cooperation — the Common Market — but he mistrusts everything that smacks of watering down French sovereignty. His bristling candor on this point startles Britain, which is skittish about EEC for the same reason, and the United States, which cannot get used to the idea that Europeans are beginning to feel their nationalist oats but which also feels fierce pride in its sovereignty.

De Gaulle's dream is of a strong Europe doing business on terms of its own choosing. It does not include any visions of France in a subordinate position. The political cooperation that ultimately is expected to grow out of economic cooperation would not be at French political expense, in the De Gaulle concept. Neither would it be at the expense of Britain, provided the British finally agree to join EEC. The British feel the same way.

The curious thing about reaction to De Gaulle's candor is that he is resented for saying bluntly what everybody else is thinking. It has been his role in recent years to say what is on everybody else's mind — and to say it in the way most likely to shock them. He has never tried to get in step with a generation of statesmen who believe in blandness.

He is criticized and reproached not because what he says is wrong but because what he says goes against the grain of blandness that characterizes official statements—like the famous instance when Winston Churchill startled all the bland talkers by declaring he had not become prime minister of Britain to liquidate the British Empire. Of course he hadn't, though to hear him say it was a shock.

Leetonia Started It

The ungraded primary classes, taking in youngsters who normally would be in grades one through four, was tried successfully on an experimental basis in Leetonia during the 1961-62 term just ending. The experiment has attracted attention elsewhere and it may be tried in the Salem public schools next fall and also in the elementary schools of the Beaver Local District.

According to reports received from educational supervisors, the plan helps the "gifted" students as well as the slow-learners. Elkton school in the Beaver Local District also has used the plan with satisfactory results.

Without a doubt many other school districts will try the ungraded system in an attempt to give small children a better start on the education trail.

Leetonia school officials are to be complimented for their pioneering efforts.

Once Over

Culture is bustin' out all over at the White House. World of the arts, not often given attention over the years in government, is getting glad hand at Washington as seldom before.

President Kennedy can jump from Laos crisis to Agnes Demille and Paddy Chayefsky without effort. He can be with Roger Blough one moment and with Thornton Wilder, Arthur Miller, Abe Burrows, and Geraldine Page the next.

It can seem almost routine for him to come from Chamber of Commerce convention to gathering of violinists, pianists, painters, poets and writers with speed of light. A switch from Walter Reuther to Isaac Stern, concert pianist, is taken in stride.

The other afternoon the President was absorbed in a discussion with Cabinet members on grave global situations and a few hours later was shaking hands with Tennessee Williams, Susan Strassburg, Julie Harris and George Balanchine.

It started a rumor that Tennessee Williams might become an influence in preparations for the New Frontier, which naturally aroused fears that aims and goals might get too mixed up with sex and problem-people.

It's all very fine. The artistic world deserves more attention than it has been getting and we feel happier about the general situation when we hear President of the United States, harrassed and worn from Cabinet huddles, speaking engagements, press conferences and ribbon-cuttings, is enjoying a wonderful switch into atmosphere of Broadway, Hollywood, Paris, the Metropolitan Opera, Carnegie Hall and the world of painters, sculptors and writers.

When Mrs. Kennedy comes back from christening of a Polaris submarine she is entitled to great music and top-level conversations.

The White House has had long periods of dullness. There has been a lack of gayety, vivacity and general enjoyment. It's a long time since there was danger of stumbling over a bull-fiddle, a cello case or a conductor's baton. And a visitor encountering a stranger in the place and asking "Who is that man?" knew the answer wouldn't be "It's either Lawrence Welk, Robert Frost or Leonard Bernstein."

Irving Berlin was 74 last week and we think he belongs in those White House groups. We would like to see him called to a gala party and made to stick around and fill some cabinet post. His music would make this a better world.

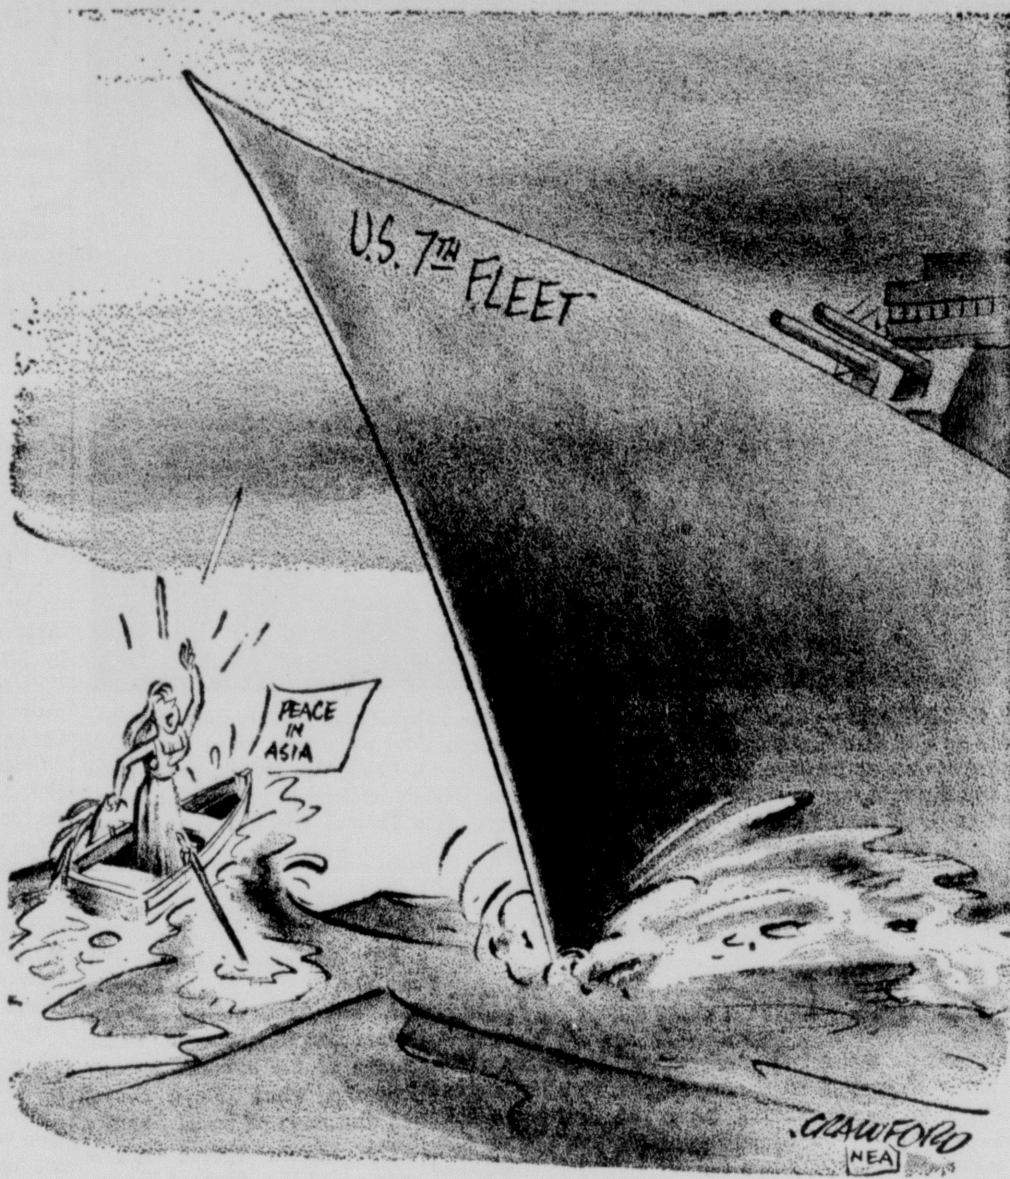

KHRUSHCHEV says U.S. rocket didn't hit the moon. Close, but no Russian cigar.

New Broadway musical "A Funny Thing Happened To Me On Way To The Forum" could have titled changed to "A Lot of Funny Things Happened on the Way From the Keith-Albee Vaudeville Circuit."

Combination auto and boat is on market. You can drive it along roads and when you come to lake or river take to the water. (Okay, up to time traffic cops get a swimming-motorcycle.)

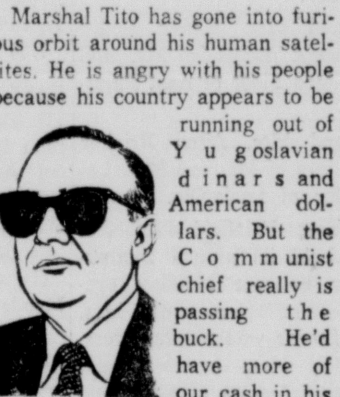

The vehicle is capable of 90 miles per hour on land but drops to 20 on water. Well, 20 per hour is faster by at least 19 miles than man can go in a car weekends.

"AHOY!"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Marshal Tito has gone into furious orbit around his human satellites. He is angry with his people because his country appears to be running out of Yugoslav dinars and American dollars. But the Communist chief really is passing the buck. He'd have more of our cash in his coffers if he hadn't been spending it to bolster anti-United States and pro Sino-Soviet countries.

While he has been borrowing millions from the United States, Tito, for example, has been pledging heavy credits to the bitterly anti-American Ghanaian government. Reports here reveal that during the final weeks of April a six-man Yugoslavian trade delegation dealt handsomely with Ghana's president Kwame Nkrumah.

First the Yugoslavs pledged Belgrade credits and technicians for the construction of a harbor and naval base at Sekondi, on the western coast of Ghana. That was on April 26. On the same day Yugoslavia borrowed $4.3 million from the Export-Import Bank here.

Tito's men also committed Belgrade to the shipment of millions of dollars worth of cement, asbestos sheets and pipes, agricultural and industrial machinery, motor vehicles and bicycles, tools, pumps and other hardware.

TO BEEF UP the food supplies of the land which has no stomach for us, Tito promised to build four slaughter houses in different parts of Ghana. Also a pineapple juice processing and canning plant. Also the delivery of many tractors. All on credit.

It was a busy, busy day for the Ghanaians. On April 26 — almost at the very hour when Tito, who owes us billions, was lending Ghana millions — the official Accra radio denounced the United States. It championed Russia. It defended Mao Tse-tung's capture of the Chinese mainland. It broadcast rather snarling attacks at our bomb testing. I pooh-poohed those who expressed anger over the Russian military suppression of the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

The April 26 attack on the United States was in the form of a broadcast reply by the Ghanaian official radio to a speech of some of us heard AFL-CIO president, George Meany, deliver at a luncheon on April 23.

IT WAS a short, blunt but quiet speech to 150 members of U.N. delegations and some of their friends. Meany — a very tough anti-Communist — said, in effect, that anger over colonialism in Asia and Africa should be matched by bitterness and indignation over "brutal denial of self-determination for 100 million people in Europe."

This, the Ghanaians, who are taking money from the Yugoslavs, who are taking money from us, didn't like. They referred to Meany as "obsessed" with his opposition to the Sino-Soviet ideology and economic system.

As for Meany's criticism of Soviet China, the Accra radio said:

"That state was born as a result of a revolution... the common people, under Communist leadership, rose up against the... tyranny of the... bourgeois oppressors. The Communist leaders had such tremendous support from the common people that they overran the vast territory..."

George Meany had also referred to the Russian army's brutalizing of the Hungarian anti-Communist revolt of 1956. This the Ghana radio didn't like.

THE BROADCAST, in effect, told Meany to mind his own business. True, there has been an "unfortunate loss of life," said the speaker.

"Basically, it can't be denied," said the Ghanaian official spokesman, "that whatever happened, it was a matter involving the government of Hungarian nationals and a section of the Hungarian people."

"But it was not even only that; the issue, without any shadow of doubt, was one involving the cold war." This is the line taken by the Soviet government after its tanks and big guns made a shambles of Budapest and shot down 12-year old children and women as well as the freedom fighters. There were other broadcasts and there were anti-U.S. editorials in the controlled Ghanaian press that day — including a warning to the world that we might be destroying the moon with our rocket.

This then is the land which is getting such vast credits and hardware and know-how from Yugoslavia, which is getting millions and hardware from us. Doesn't anybody care?

Business Outlook

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Administration's Actions Produce Uncertainty

What the man who has the ear of President Kennedy tells him about business is important to know — and perhaps for everybody to read about whenever possible.

That's why the address given by Prof. Walter Heller, a chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers this week in New York City before the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants is worth a careful examination. It throws some light on the plight of American businessmen today.

While the speech explains some general principles that are vital, it doesn't indicate just how they are going to be applied.

Prof. Heller takes note of what's happening to the stock market currently, but doesn't come to grips with the physiological situations in the national economy which are so important in building confidence in the future.

He spoke first in an optimistic vein about the gains in production and income in the first quarter of 1962 and then said:

"Some of you may wonder about the divergence between the current indicators emanating from Pennsylvania Avenue and the current price quotations from Wall Street. So do I at times."

"The stock market's constant reappraisals of its own verdicts produces some interesting myopia a few months ago or whether price-earnings ratios were too high a few months ago or whether they are too low today."

"It is not that I am keeping a secret, the fact is that no mortal man knows the answer."

"But the things I do know suggest that the market's downturn since March 15 is not a reflection of current disappointments and downward revision in the near-term economic outlook. For one thing, the 52.4 billion profits figure for the first quarter of 1961 and the preliminary earnings statements for the first quarter of 1962 have, on the whole, exceeded the projection of most business and financial experts six months ago."

"Secondly, there is encouraging direct evidence on business expectations. The majority of businessmen expect improvements in sales and earnings, according to surveys conducted recently — after the steel price episode — by the National Association of Purchasing Agents and by Dun and Bradstreet."

"According to the Dun and Bradstreet findings, business optimism has increased in the past three months. We share that optimism."

Unfortunately, statistics of this kind on "expectations" do not always gibe with psychological attitudes either inside or outside of the business field.

Dr. Heller seems to think the prospects are good "for prolonged expansion" and that this provides "solid support for business fixed investment."

BUSINESSMEN privately, however, do not talk that way. They show real concern. When speaking for publication, they naturally conceal their pessimism and feelings of uncertainty. They hesitate to add fuel to the flames. But the doubt is plainly there.

Dr. Heller unwittingly explains the real cause for hesitation in business planning when further on in his speech he says:

"Of course, in a free market economy, investment does not happen automatically. It is consciously undertaken by businessmen in the expectation of securing future profits. This administration fully appreciates the importance of adequate profit levels — and business confidence — in generating the increased investment that is so vital to speed our lagging rate of economic growth and to promote full use of our current economic potential."

"Profits are among the most sensitive reactors to economic slack. In periods of rising economic activity, they climb vigorously, as demonstrated by their one-third rise from the first to fourth quarters in 1961. But even a slowdown, let alone a slump, can cut into profits painfully."

"In the first quarter of 1962, the recovery did not register the kind of buoyant gains we had hoped it might, nor did profits continue their rapid rise. But the stepped-up pace of expansion points to profits gains ahead."

"In the final analysis, the outlook for profits and investment is tied to the outlook for continued expansion — and vice versa."

The administration realizes that no expansion can last without substantial help from private investment — and the administration's economic policies and programs reflect this awareness."

BUT ABSTRACT statements like this unhappily do not fit in with concrete actions taken by the administration that disturb confidence and cause frustration in planning for the future. It isn't just because the President calls the executives of one of our largest steel companies a name synonymous with "sons of beelzebub."

It isn't because Mr. Kennedy sometimes talks one way and acts another on business and labor matters. It is because all around the President are men who have written statements and messages for him which have disturbed businessmen.

They see a tampering with the price structure without sanction of law. They read of tax proposals that threaten an interference with the system of American production in companies abroad.

Also, the whole question of taxes on business in this country has been confused by a variety of proposals that add up to fundamental changes in business operations. All this produces uncertainty.

Sooner or later, these advisers to the President will have to become realistic and take cognizance of the fact that it is deeds, not words, that count. Steps that will make possible productivity gains which can actually be reflected in better margins of profit — not in mere "expectations" — have everything to do with the growth of confidence and with sound planning for the future of American business through private investment.

Mary Ludwig, heroine of the battle of Monmouth, earned the nickname of Molly Pitcher when she followed her husband and the troops to battle and carried water in a pitcher to the soldiers from a nearby spring.

The months of winter meant safety from Indian attack to the American pioneers. Sometimes, after the cool weather set in, there was a period of warm weather, which the pioneers called "Indian Summer" because it gave the Indians another opportunity to attack.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Since your column seems to be a clearing house for soul barers, I'd like to add my confession. Maybe someone will learn from it. Perhaps just getting it down on paper will make me feel better.

I was married to a fine man, but I craved a little excitement beyond the ordinary duties of home and family. So I went back to work after 15 years.

I was flattered by the attentions of one of the big wheels in the office. I found myself dressing fit to kill every day. I even darkened the gray out of my hair. And then I became involved in a full-blown affair with a fascinating smoothie who was five years my junior.

At first the romance was like a tonic. I felt rejuvenated and attractive again. It was as if the calendar had been turned back 15 years. But believe me the heartache and torture weren't worth it. Now feel twice as old and far more miserable than if no one ever had looked at me.

I found out after two years of being a blind fool that the Love Affair of the century was being sandwiched in between three others. Women were his hobby. The house had girl friends all over the building.

I am loaded with guilt and remorse and filled with fear that my Casanova may pass the word to his associates. But worst of all, I'm ashamed for having been such a dumbbell.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest — BRAINLESS.

Hedge Hazard

Dear Ann: Our neighbors have a 7-foot hedge down their property line. Their house is on the corner, so the hedge constitutes a traffic hazard. Cars turning from our street into the street which is parallel to the hedge can't see the oncoming cars.

We called the police to report this danger. Their answer was: "The people own the property and they have a right to erect a 7-foot concrete wall on it if they want to."

We even went to these neighbors and asked them to clip the hedge down a few feet in the interest of safety. The woman replied that the hedge helps reduce the noise from the street and it need not be a traffic hazard if people are careful. What do we do now?—PORTLAND.

Dear Portland: Now you do nothing but wait for the big crash — and hope it isn't someone dear to you. Unhappily, similar hazards are found in many places. Usually it takes a tragic accident to produce action. The people who wouldn't cooperate are heartsick, and the law moves in and insists on removal of the hazard.

Lucky Wife

Dear Ann: Your letter from "Constant Cook" made me laugh. This woman complains because her husband comes home for lunch. I wonder what she'd do if she had to cook for my crew.

I'm a farmer's wife. I prepare three large meals every day, plus an evening snack. Besides my husband and four children there's an assortment of hired hands. During the planting and harvesting months, the number of place settings goes up to 12.

Cooking for farmhands would drive the average woman nuts. There are hay-boys who don't like vegetables, middle-aged men with touchy stomachs and grandpas who are minus half their teeth.

But I get a kick out of meals because of the interesting conversation. The men talk about the sick cow, and how personality has changed, whether the storm hurt the crops and how much the hogs ought to bring at market. It makes all the work worthwhile.

I was going to sign this "Another Constant Cook" but I think instead I'll sign it — LUCKY FARMER'S WIFE.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Caroline's Ponies Create Political Stir

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two ponies named Macaroni and Tex emerged as clean as hounds' teeth today from a charge they may be living in undemocratic luxury, with uniformed servants waiting on them.

The suspicion about Caroline Kennedy's small horses was voiced recently by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. When a bill to increase the uniformed White House police force from 170 to 250 men came up on the House floor he blocked it, at least temporarily.

He demanded assurances that policemen are not used as nurse maids for "the horses presently parked at the White House."

Indignant denials came from the policemen.

"Suh," one officer told a newsman, "I'm a veteran of the Air Force and I never mess with horses. Nor do the other members of the police force."

It developed that, under a long-standing division of labor at the White House, horses and other members of the menagerie come under the jurisdiction of Robert Redmond, head gardener.

His platoon of experts include men wise in the needs of ponies as well as petunias. They can wield a deft fodder fork, and know how to settle a pony for the night in the backyard stable.

As a matter of fact, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue is not the official residence of the ponies. Their permanent stables are at Glen Ora, the Kennedy country place in Virginia. But Macaroni often comes up to Washington by horse trailer, Tex less frequently.

If the two ponies created a bit of political stir, it is not the first time in White House history. The National Geographic Society recalls that economyites in Congress raised a fuss when President Martin Van Buren spent $6,670 on stables and again when President Ulysses S. Grant spent $14,016.

Most presidents have been pet fanciers. But under Teddy Roosevelt, the White House resembled a zoo. Playmates for the children included cats, lizards, snakes, guinea pigs, kangaroos and an uncounted array of dogs, including Scamp, a rat terrier, and Mike, a bull terrier. One pony thought nothing of riding the elevator with the kids.

We cannot distinguish its defenses from our own. We cannot diminish our contributions to Western security or abdicate the responsibilities of power."

His speech and remarks earlier in the day at a news conference were considered a reply to French President Charles de Gaulle, who spoke out earlier this week against Western Europe's heavy reliance on U.S. military power.

Kennedy told the trade group: "Our commitment, let it be remembered, is to a common united defense, in which every member of the Western community plays a full and responsible role, to the limit of his capability and in reliance on the strength of others—and it is that commitment which will be fulfilled."

The President went on to loud applause:

"As long as the United States is staking its own national security on the defense of Europe, contributing today 425,000 men at an annual cost of $1.6 billion and calling up 160,000 men in a far greater effort than that of any other nation in response to last summer's crisis, we will continue to participate in the great decisions affecting war and peace in that area. A coherent policy cannot call for both our military presence and our diplomatic absence."

Earlier in the day, at his news conference, Kennedy said that when Europe was able to defend itself the United States would be relieved of its military burden there, but "that day has not come."

Details on Street Oiling Released

Service Director James Feiler announced today that his department will begin Wednesday oiling dirt streets throughout the municipality, provided the property owners make arrangements to pay the city for the oil.

The work will be done by service department personnel without charge for labor. The price per frontage foot for the oil will be six cents for a swath six feet wide. This is for a swath eight feet wide. If it takes two eight-foot swaths to cover the width of the street, the property owner must pay six cents per front foot for each swath, Feiler explained. A half swath would be put on for three cents a front foot.

The oil must be paid for in advance at City Clerk Robert Rheutan's office on the second floor at City Hall. Requests for oiling streets will be accepted only until May 28, Feiler said.

Streets will be graded by the service department before the oil is put down. Feiler said he hopes to complete the oiling of the streets by the second week in June. He said the work will be done by areas.

CAMPUS GROWTH BY 1970 at Mount Union College is shown in this aerial view with building in the $9,000,000 program enclosed in boxes. Already built are: (1) King Residence Hall for Men; (2) Camps Center, combining college union and dining commons facilities; and (3) Residence Hall for Women. Yet to come are: (4) Music Building; (5) Humanities Classrooms Building; (6) Chapel; (7) Residence Hall for Men; (8) Administration Building; and (9) Physical Education Fieldhouse, tentatively located for the 23rd Street athletic area south of the Alliance campus.

commend any blanket finding that they were bona fide."

A complicating factor, he said, was the fact that natural gas had been found under some of the acreage which Estes had sold to farmers, then leased back their acreage allotments on the land.

The Estes case was the topic of the first question tossed at the President at his news conference Thursday and he obviously was primed for it.

Kennedy said the government will tolerate no employee who can even be suspected of serving two masters.

Dinner ceremonies for the graduating class of courses in practical politics sponsored by the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday evening at 6 p.m. at the Saxon Club.

Two courses have been held simultaneously for the past eight weeks, with Richard Courbourn and Glenn Moffett as discussion leaders. Roy Fennema was the adviser in charge from the Chamber of Commerce.

A panel discussion will be held at the final meeting, with Ford Joseph Jr., president of City Council; Jack Rance, councilman-at-large; Kenneth Bell, county auditor, and Judge Joel Sharp of the Common Pleas Court making up the panel.

Members of the three previous graduating classes have been invited to attend.

set aside for them, two other plant items are possible renovation of Chapman Hall, the present humanities classroom building, and continued development of the 23rd Street Athletic Field, two blocks south of the campus proper.

"These buildings are essential if we are to effectively serve the students who will seek and deserve the finest of educational facilities at Mount Union," President Bracy said.

He also pointed out the need for funds for areas other than those involving brick and mortar.

A minimum of $2,000,000 is needed for endowment in addition to the $180,000 set aside in the "Program of the Sixties."

Tentatively, $1,150,000 would be earmarked for faculty enrichment, development of an international studies program, and land acquisition which Dr. Bracy considers most important to an expanding quality academic program.

The "Program of the Sixties" has almost reached its goal to meet that source of income for the total program.

It is hoped that nearly $6,000,000 can be raised by a later general campaign and as a result of a Methodist Church capital campaign on behalf of the four Methodist colleges in Ohio.

Loans from the government represent approximately $1,175,000 to date on King Hall, Women's Residence Hall, and Campus Center with another $450,000 hoped for on the new Men's Residence Hall—all self-liquidating in debt retirement.

Started Expansion In 1946

Mount Union's first real expansion program began in 1946 with the acceptance by the board of trustees of a master campus plan, proposed by the late Charles B. Ketcham, president of the college, and Dr. George L. King, president of the board.

The first buildings in that program were East Hall, built in 1947 as a combination dormitory and classrooms for economics and business administration, and the Library, built in 1950, housing more than 100,000 volumes and serving as a depository for government publications.

The first stage of an eventual Fine Arts Center was built in 1954—Rodman Playhouse with a 290-seat little theatre and Grandall Art Studios with separate classrooms and gallery.

McMaster Residence Hall for Women, named in honor of President Emeritus and Mrs. William H. McMaster, was built in 1956; Wilson Science Hall, housing chemistry and physics, in 1958; and a Health Center, gift of an anonymous donor, in 1958.

A. & P. Robbery Probe Continues; Suspect Released

The first suspect picked up for questioning in the attempted A & P super market robbery here last weekend was released Thursday when authorities became convinced that the subject was not involved in the case.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch, Lt. Robert Kirchgessner and an A & P Co. official went to Warren yesterday to help question the suspect. "Nothing materialized," Lutsch said.

The A & P Co. is offering $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of three masked men who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, 166 N. Union Ave., late Friday night and held the couple and their son hostage while they attempted to break into the safe at the super market where the elder Martin is manager.

Lutsch has been conferring with Alliance detectives to compare procedures used in the robbery here with a similar case that occurred in Alliance last March.

Three men there held Dean Fortune, head teller of the plaza office of the Alliance First National City Bank, in his home on March 26 when they were frightened away from the branch office by the arrival of police on a routine patrol.

Description of the men involved in both cases tallies, authorities said, as well as the method used by them in attempting to carry out both crimes. In both instances, the would-be robbers were thwarted in their major robbery attempts, but stole from the people they were holding as hostages.

17, of Chicago, accused of bombing a synagogue.

The three fled the Cook County jail Wednesday. They got to Ohio by allegedly forcing a salesman at gun point to drive them to Cincinnati. There, the salesman, Everett Irl, 49, of Kankakee, Ill., was released unharmed Wednesday night.

The search bogged down until a woman here telephoned police about a vehicle parked where she normally leaves her car.

She said she first noticed the station wagon at 5 a.m. Thursday. A check showed the vehicle was Irl's.

A little later a man called officials saying a suspicious looking man tried to sell him a .38 caliber revolver. He said he refused to buy it and the seller left.

The man later said the seller looked like Muhlig.

be posted.

Asst. U.S. Atty. William W. Greenhalgh issued a warrant charging Hoffa, 49, with simple assault. Municipal Court Judge Edward A. Beard signed it, and police served it on the stocky union boss at Teamsters' headquarters Thursday night.

At 1st precinct police headquarters, only a few blocks from his office, Hoffa was booked, interviewed, fingerprinted and photographed Thursday night. Then he was released on $500 bond.

Hoffa, clad in a grey checked business suit, showed no signs of having been in any fight. He would not comment on Baron's charge.

Simple assault is a misdemeanor, and the maximum penalty is one year in prison.

Baron told a reporter the real cause of the incident was a difference between Hoffa's "conception of the labor movement and mine."

"I never became part of his machine," said Baron, who has been with the teamsters for 10 years. "I avoided him as much as I could."

Baron said he was called to the Teamsters' executive offices Thursday morning for a negotiations session. He said Hoffa cursed him and asked him what he had been doing on his job. When he tried to answer, Baron said, Hoffa wouldn't listen.

"Whatever was on his mind I got the full brunt of it."

Baron said he went out to an anteroom, Hoffa yelled at him "why don't you admit what you're doing?" And then he saw Hoffa "come at me with his fists clenched. He clipped me on the left eye and knocked me down."

About four people in the room restrained Hoffa, Baron said, but the union boss broke loose. Baron said Hoffa hit him again, knocking him down.

When he tried to get out of the room, Baron said, Hoffa pushed him over a chair.

releases the main 63-foot parachute at 10,000 feet. The second chute worked fine on Glenn's flight and no change is planned on it.

Concerning the postponement, Carpenter was quoted as saying: "This is part of the continuing process of greater reliability—taking advantage of past flight experience—and it gives me a chance to work with confidence."

Earlier Thursday, preparations for the flight were marred by a plane crash near Nairobi, Africa, that killed 14 Air Force men involved in support of emergency recovery operations for the Carpenter flight.

Most of the victims were mechanics flying to a contingency site at Nairobi to service planes which would be used to search for Aurora 7 should it land in an unscheduled spot in the Indian Ocean or eastern Africa. The plane, a U.S. Air Force C130 Hercules carrying spare parts for the rescue planes, crashed and burned.

NASA said the crash would not delay the Carpenter flight.

The postponement to Tuesday gives unfavorable Atlantic Ocean weather a chance to clear away. Weather experts had given the flight only a 50-50 chance of getting off the ground Saturday because of winds and high waves in two ocean recovery areas.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, astronaut spokesman, told newsmen it was known the day of Glenn's flight that his drogue (stabilizing) parachute had deployed too soon. Asked why nothing had been done in the weeks since, Powers replied:

"In evaluating a flight, there are 90 million things to do. When it comes to a countdown, this is the time people toe the mark and ask why this or that didn't work before."

U.S. Program Aids Cancer Victims

Q—One of our neighbor's children has leukemia. She was taken to the National Cancer Institute in Washington where she is receiving wonderful care, all without charge.

I wondered whether such care also might be available to my husband who suffers from the same disease. Can you give me exact details about admission?

A—The care being given patients at the National Cancer Institute is indeed wonderful beyond the power of words to describe. The costs are met by government grants, as you've been told.

However, it would be physically impossible for all cancer patients to be cared for at the institute despite its mammoth size or at the other 150 hospitals throughout the country where physicians and surgeons with special interests in the overall cancer program are co-operating with the National Service Center's section on treatment with chemicals (chemotherapy).

HERE, IN GENERAL, is how admissions are granted and how your doctor may go about determining whether your husband is eligible for care:

After preparation of a detailed history of your husband's condition, he may send the complete record to Dr. T. Philip Waalkes, Chief of the Clinical Branch of Cancer Chemotherapy, National Service Center, Bethesda 14, Md. Wholly on the basis of the nature of the growth and the type of research being carried on, admission for study and care will be recommended or rejected.

If admission is recommended, the patient will be accepted either at the Bethesda Center or at one of the other co-operating hospitals throughout the country where special studies are in progress. If the recommended hospital is at a great distance from the patient's home and the costs of a long trip are prohibitive, a governmental grant for transportation may be given.

Once admitted, government grants pay the costs of research drugs, examinations related to research and room and board during the period of hospital stay for the purpose of conduct of the research.

Other costs are the responsibility of the patient or of those who may assume responsibility for the patient's care. In many instances, such costs are met by voluntary agencies or by groups of interested home town folks.

The referring physician then is kept informed of the patient's progress and, if later treatment is required, he is given full instructions on procedure.

Bifocal People

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you a bifocal fellow? Are you a bifocal gal?

Some people who could best use bifocals disdain them from pride. They think they can see all they want to without recourse to the double view.

But people who don't wear bifocals after 40 don't know what they are missing.

It took me 50 years of living—I'm slow—to appreciate bifocals, but now that have learned to do so I wouldn't trade them for freckles or toad stains.

Many people say they would prefer to stumble and fall down the family laundry chute rather than wear bifocal eyeglasses. Well, all can say is, there is always a certain amount of false pride involved in meeting any situation.

However, there is at least one American genius who wasn't afraid to wear bifocal glasses. That was Benjamin Franklin, who was over 80 at the time.

Earlier, Ben had invented the platform rocker. His further invention of bifocal glasses only proved an old man's right to comfort and a knowledge of what was going on.

Probably he did it to save his arm. He probably got tired of lifting his hand up to wipe on or whip off his glasses to read.

One of the first things you notice about wearing bifocal glasses is how tired they make your eyeballs. They aren't used to all that exercise.

Bifocals make a big difference in your life. It isn't only that you can now read a telephone book number without having a friend hold the directory in front of you halfway across the street.

Bifocals make a fellow more responsible—that is, as responsible as a fellow with a split-level view can be. For they do have this disadvantage: Everything is either too big to be there or too small to be here.

This causes what is known as the "bifocal look"—a lifted chin expression of staring uncertainty. You have a problem of perspective.

A horse in front of you looks like an ordinary horse. But a worm on the rain-wet pavement at the same moment looms up like a sea monster in attack.

There are women who will go to almost any extent rather than wear bifocals because they say that this type of glasses gives them a grandmotherly look.

My own feeling is that any woman who needs bifocals probably deserves to look like a grandmother, and ought to look like a grandmother, and what is so terrible about that? Glamorous Marlene Dietrich doesn't mind being a grandma.

Yanks Edge Red Sox 2-1; Share AL Lead With Indians

Baltimore Dumps Los Angeles 6-4

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Just when it was needed most, the New York Yankees' battered pitching crew has gotten a lift from two longshot prospects.

Bob Turley and Marshall Bridges collaborated Thursday as the Yankees squeezed by the Boston Red Sox 2-1 and into a share of the American League lead with Cleveland.

Turley, making his first start since July of last year, allowed only two singles over seven innings and Marshall finished up for the victory. Towering right-hander Gene Conley lost it.

In the only other AL game scheduled, the Baltimore Orioles beat Bo Belinsky and the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

Turley, who fireballed his way to the top after being acquired by the Yankees from Baltimore in 1954, was acclaimed baseball's foremost pitcher in 1958 after a 21-7 season and a brilliant World Series showing.

But he plunged to an 8-11 mark the next year, then really ran into trouble last season when arm trouble rendered him all but useless and he finished at 3-5.

Definitely a question mark this season, Turley made three brief relief stints before drawing yesterday's big assignment. Powerful and poised, he faltered only in the second when singles by Jim Paggiarone and Gary Geiger and Carroll Hardy's sacrifice fly produced the lone Boston run.

Turley was lifted in the eighth Thursday for pinch-hitter Roger Maris, out of the regular lineup with a pulled leg muscle. Maris flied out, but the Yanks went on to gain the tying run.

Mickey Mantle walked then raced to third on a stolen base and scored the winner on Elston Howard's fly.

Bridges was felled in the eighth by Pete Runnels' line shot. The husky left-hander waved off first aid and a stretcher crew, gave up a single to Ed Bressoud, then proceeded to retire the final four Red Sox in order.

Belinsky, boasting an impressive 5-0 record including the no-hitter of May 5 against the Orioles, was soundly trounced at Baltimore. The southpaw gave up a walk, successive homers to rookie John Powell and Jackie Brandt in the first and was lifted after doubles to Jerry Adair and Gus Triandos plus a walk in the third.

Los Angeles batters sprayed 12 hits off winning rookie Art Quirk and knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm but 11 Angels struck out and 11 more were stranded on the bases.

Changes Due In Minor League

News System Would Eliminate 3 Classes

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The major leagues of baseball hope to set up a new player development system, involving revolutionary changes in the minor leagues, to assure a steady flow of talent to the big show.

The first step in the new plan was to be taken today when the majors meet in a special joint session, called by Commissioner Ford Frick, to consider the report of a major-minor league committee which has been toiling for over a year.

If the three-year plan gets broad general approval, steps will be taken to start the work of re-aligning and reclassifying the minors in 1963. The target date for completion is 1965. By that time the majors have expected to have 24 clubs in either two 12-club or three eight-club leagues.

Instead of the six classifications now existing in the minors, ranging from Class Triple A to Class D, there would be only three levels in the new deal. They probably would be called Triple A, Double A and Class A.

Still to be determined is the number of minor league clubs that each of the 20 major league teams need to provide adequate talent. Originally the figure was six but some feel that five would be enough.

For several years the majors have been putting $800,000 annually into minor league subsidies. This would be eliminated under the new plan as each major league team would be responsible financially for its own.

Junior Baseball Practice Slate

The practice schedule for the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues for next week will be the same as this week's, according to league commissioner John Herman Jr.

Postponement of opening day from May 21 to May 28 because of field conditions, permits the extra week's practice. Next week's schedule is the same as the one that appeared in the May 12 issue of the News.

Purity, Tullis, Old Dutch Win In Class AA Softball Action

Purity Derres, Tullis American and Old Dutch emerged victors in Class AA City League softball action Thursday night at Kelley Field.

In three extremely close games Purity nipped Stepanics 8-7, Old Dutch edged Industrial Mining 6-5 and Tullis nudged Lincoln Machine 3-2.

A home run in the seventh inning with one aboard by Jim Cranston gave Purity its victory. Jim Clayton was credited the win while Bew Roelen suffered the loss for Stepanics.

Vince Weyant was the big man at the plate for the losers as he smacked two safeties in two trips to the plate.

Dick Youngpeter connected for a single and a round-tripper to spark his Old Dutch teammates to victory. Bob Adams led the losers at the plate, connecting for a double and a single. The score was tied 5-5 in the last half of the seventh but an error by Industrial allowed a run to score, giving Old Dutch the win.

Tullis American turned three hits into three runs to post their win over Lincoln Machine. Heiner, Hendricks and Morlon all hit safely for Tullis.

Tullis was forced to come from behind to claim the win as Bill Delfavero home run in the third shoved Lincoln ahead 2-1.

Action will continue Monday with Lincoln Machine and Industrial Mining battling. Tullis American challenging Purity and Stepanics playing Old Dutch.

Field Even In Preakness Race

Decidedly, Jaipur, Ridan Could Win

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Decidedly, the Kentucky Derby winner, and 10 other top colts tangle Saturday in the 86th Preakness with the odds all heavily against the star of Louisville capturing Pimlico's great classic for 3-year-olds.

The main stumbling block to California-bred Decidedly in this 1 3-16 mile race appears to be Jaipur, who was purposely withheld from the Derby by owner George D. Widener. Jaipur, a leading 2-year-old in 1961, has started only twice this year and won both races—the Gotham and the Withers mile at Aqueduct.

But Jaipur or no, Decidedly still would have powerful opposition in his bid for the second leg of the coveted triple crown—The Derby, Preakness, and Belmont.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, the Derby favorite who finished third at Louisville May 5, could steal it all with his tremendous speed. So could T. A. Grissom's Roman Line, second in the Derby; Townsend B. Martin's unpredictable Sunrise County; or Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, the 1961 champion 2-year-old who seems to be returning to his best form.

Seven of the 15 horses who fought it out in the Derby are in the Preakness. In addition to George A. Pope Jr.'s Decidedly, Roman Line, Ridan, Sunrise County and Crimson Satan, they are Mrs. Joe W. Brown's Green Hornet and Robert Lehman's Prego.

Jaipur, Brandywine Stable's Greek Money, Frank E. Power's Vimy Ridge, and Jopa Stable's Flying Johnnie are the newcomers.

If all start in the classic to be televised and broadcast (CBS) from 4:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, the gross will be $188,300 with $135,800 for the winner. That would make it the second-richest Preakness. In 1959, Royal Orbit earned $137,800 when the pot was $190,300.

The Pimlico track oddsmaker lists Jaipur as the 5-2 favorite. He made Decidedly and Ridan co-second choices at 3-1.

Umpires Association Will Meet Sunday

All former umpires of the Salem Umpires Association who worked games for the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues last year or previous years will meet at the American Legion Home Sunday at 1:30 p.m. All persons wishing to umpire are requested to attend this special meeting.

Memorial Coliseum Relays Will Feature All-Star Cast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 22nd annual Memorial Coliseum Relays, big show of the week for track and field patrons, goes on tonight with an all-star cast and such attractions as:

A clash in the "miracle mile" featuring New Zealand's great Peter Snell, who holds the pending world record; Oregon's Dyrol Burleson, the American record holder, and Jim Grelle of Los Angeles, a member of the sub 4-minute mile lodge.

Two men who have pole vaulted 16 feet, Marine Lt. Dave York and John Uelses of Washington, D.C.

The first meeting between the only 9.2 sprinters in the world, Frank Budd of Villanova and Bob Hayes of Florida A.M.

The spotlight centers on the mile, scheduled to be run at 8:25 p.m., PDT.

The 23-year-old Snell, a rather muscular 170-pound, 5-foot-10½ young man, eclipsed the world mark of 3:54.5 held by Australia's Herb Elliott when he blazed the distance in 3:54.4 in New Zealand last Jan. 27.

Dodgers Nip Colts 5-4 in 10 Innings

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The fleet feet of rally-maker Maury Wills have pulled the Los Angels Dodgers another step closer to the top in that National League pennant chase.

Held to two hits going into the ninth inning, the Dodgers got rolling against Houston Thursday night on a bunt single by Wills, then whipped the Colts 5-4 in the 10th inning.

The victory pulled the Dodgers within three games of the league-leading San Francisco Giants, blanked 1-0 by third-place St. Louis on Bob Gibson's six-hitter.

Wills, a .248 hitter, opened the ninth against Jim Golden with his bunt single and when the inning was over Golden was gone, the Colts 4-0 lead had disappeared and the Dodgers had sent it into extra innings. Wills then singled in the Wally Moon's single.

Cincinnati fell back into fourth place with their six-game winning streak cut off by Philadelphia's 9-6 triumph and Milwaukee belted Pittsburgh 7-2 in the only other games scheduled.

The Colts built their 4-0 lead with former Dodgers driving in all the runs. Norm Larker accounted for two, Bob Aspromonte's single knocked in one and Carl Warwick got the other with a homer.

Wills' single, one by Jim Gilliam and a double by Moon finished Golden and brought in Bob Tiefenauer (1-3), who was touched for a single by Tommy Davis.

Davis scored the tying run on a single by Ron Fairly. Gilliam's single and an intentional walk after Wills got on set it up for Moon's game-winning, Ed Roebuck (2-0) picked up the victory in relief.

The Cards used an unearned run to end San Francisco's 10-game home victory streak after Gibson (5-2) worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the eighth. Billy O'Dell (5-1) lost it.

Unbeaten Cal McLish, backed by a three-homer barrage, registered victory No. 4 in beating the Reds with ninth inning assistance from relievers Jack Baldschun and Chris Short. Don Demeter's three-run homer capped a five-run surge in the fifth that put it away for the Phils and handed Jim O'Toole (3-5) the setback.

The Braves scored all seven runs in the first inning, chasing Pirates' starter Bob Friend (4-4). Tom Sturdivant came on and gave up three additional runs on an intentional walk, a single and Howie Bedell's triple. That made it easy for Bob Shaw (4-1), who coasted with an eight-hitter—one a homer by Bill Virdon.

Pinson and Frank Robinson started the ninth off big with a double and triple. Lynch then singled, scoring Robinson, and Wally Post's pinch brought in one more run before the last two Reds batters flied out.

Bob Purkey (6-0) will be seeking his second victory in a row over the Pirates tonight. His probable opponent is Harvey Haddix (2-1).
